Electronic Learning Center, Room 3031

There are six computers in the Electronic Learning Center. This is the Law Library's computer-based teaching facility and may be used by Carolina Law students when not in use for classes. The room is open during all Law Library hours. Students may print from these computers to the Carolina Law student printers in the upper level of the rotunda and the rumpus room or to the ITS (CCI) printers in room 3045. These computers require a UNC-Chapel Hill Onyen and password. Access is limited to the Carolina Law Community.
